

WOMEN IN THE UNIVERSITY

With the financial help of Loyola of Montreal, some Montreal women academics have arranged a meeting with visiting colleagues from the rest of Canada during the Learned Societies' Meetings. The purposes of this session are:

1. To provide an informal occasion for meetings between people with specialized interests in issues (academic and non-academic) relating to women.
2. To consider formally a national structure that might be a unifying and practical vehicle for the opinions and actions of university women in the areas of politics, publishing, pedagogy, and professional welfare.
3. To hear a critique of women's movements, with special reference to the university, by Marlene Dixon.
